McGillivray Team "Tops" in First Aid Competition Here

Teams from Pass Towns and Cammore Complete and 4 Junior Teams from Coleman Make Good Showing

Archie McCulloch, captain of McGillivray mine First Aid team, was a proud man when the awards for the competitions held on Monday were announced. Over ten years ago this cup was put up for competition by Mr. Kellock, general manager of McGillivray Creek Coal & Coke Co., Ltd., and was the first time it had been won by a McGillivray team, consequently there was great rejoicing by Archie and his team, composed of W. Lonsbury, A. S. McLintock, T. Brennan and Joe Simla.

So proud was Archie that he gave a speech at the smoker on Monday evening in the Grand Union hotel, in which he paid tribute to the good team work, with special reference to Joe Simla.

The order of the awards is as follows:

McGillivray, Cammore, Hillcrest No. 1, Hillcrest No. 2, Thompson's (Blairmore), International, Bellevue, Coleman, St. John Ambulance, Greenhill, Mohawk.

The junior awards were in the following order: "C" team, captained by Jack Graham; "A" team, John Omdur; "B" team, Bernard McDonald; "D" team, Raymond Destobel.

Names of those taking part were: McGillivray—A. McCulloch, W. Lonsbury, A. S. McLintock, Joe Simla, T. Brennan.

Cammore—J. Brown, V. Mrokwia, J. Jackson, J. Miskew, W. Bell.

Hillcrest No. 1—C. R. Henderson, R. Clark, T. Morgan, H. Grant, W. Makin.

St. John Ambulance—H. Dunlop, J. Kilgannon, L. Richards, J. Lloyd, G. Coleman.

Great Coronation Carnival to Open on Saturday Night

President Walter Purvis Organizes
Finest Display Ever Seen in Pass Carnivals—Proceeds for Club Building Fund.

Hang on to your hats—here we go again.

The Canadian Legion Carnival will be in full swing on Saturday.

Here in addition to the fine major prizes advertised in this issue, you'll find twelve handsomely fitted up booths with the most gorgeous line of prizes ever offered at a carnival in Alberta. It has been the aim of Walter S. Purvis, carnival manager, to excel all previous carnivals in the quality and usefulness of the prizes in the various booths.

Read about the choice of major prizes in the special page advertisement in this issue. In supporting this carnival, you'll not only get lots of fun but you will be helping the Legion in their efforts to establish a worthwhile club, which is needed here as a community centre for various local activities.

To add to the gaiety, jivey dances will be held both evenings, on the spacious 60-square-foot of good dance floor. You supported the carnival splendidly last year, and it was appreciated by the Legion executive. You will find equally as much enjoyment and satisfaction this year. The Ladies' Auxiliary of the Legion will be there with their popular refreshment stands, and it is anticipated there will be a record attendance from all of the Pass towns in Alberta and British Columbia and as far east as Pincher and Macleod.

Tickets for the handsome major prizes are now on sale at 25c each, which entitles you to free admission to the carnival.

ATTENDING DOUBLE WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Montalbetti are spending a holiday at Trail, B.C., and while there will attend the double wedding of Mrs. Montalbetti's twin sisters, the Misses Louise and Lena Molina. During their absence the Modern Electric store is in charge of Mrs. W. McFarlane, of Carmangay, sister of Mr. Montalbetti.

Early Days Town of Frank Recalled in Perusing 36-Year- Old Copy of "Frank Sentinel"

A copy of The Frank Sentinel, Kemmis was caught without his gun Volume 1, Number 5, dated November and away from his sanctum, which 29, 1901, has been loaned to The Journal by Mr. W. H. Chappell, of Blairmore. It is most interesting to read news of the then booming town of 36 years ago, when apparently declines to allow his name to be used; Blairmore was just looked on as a suburb and Coleman had not come into being.

The headlines on the front page announce that Hon. H. L. Frank makes another inspection of the company's property, that a permanent manager arrives from France to take charge of the Gold Creek Collieries of the collieries, upon whose operations business men of Frank are counting to largely increase their business, are applying for a charter under which to build a railroad from Frank to their property.

Even in those days the doughty Scots appear to have made their impression on the community, for an advertisement states: "You are invited to St. Andrew's Ball To-Night in the company's boarding house at 9 o'clock. A good program of toasts, speeches, songs and music has been prepared. Dancing after the conclusion of the program. Tickets $1.50."

Then there is a report of a football match on Thanksgiving Day, in which the Sons of Scotland undertook to play The World. It is noticeable that the names of both teams were mainly Scottish, such as Ross, Stewart, McIntyre, Milne, Burns, Turnbull, Wallace, Lyons and others. The game ended in a draw of 1-1.

In the toast list of the St. Andrew's dinner is seen the name of the late Alex. Cameron, later known as Coleman's "Grand Old Man," who responded to the toast, "The Land We Love."

Here is a paragraph which will interest Fred J. Smyth, of the Granbrook Courier, who in those days was editing the Moyie Leader: "A handsome American lady, independently rich, is advertising in the Moyie Leader for a good, honest husband. It is rather a slur on the unmarried men of her own country. But why did she pick on Moyie? Can it be that a photograph of Editor Smyth has fallen into her jeweled hands?"

Editors had lively times in those days, as even now, judging from the following: "Editor Kemmis, of the Pincher Creek Echo, has had Sampson Jackson had up before court for wanting to fight a duel with him with horse pistols. Here is where he defies all the precedents of true western journalism. If Colonel Lowery or Jim Houston had been given an opening of this kind, they would have risen to the occasion and filled ed their man with em quads.... Mr. support on the part of parents."

RE-ORGANIZING BOY SCOUTS

R. H. Johnson, executive secretary of the southern half of Alberta for the Boy Scout Association, was here on Thursday, interviewing those interested in the Scout movement. Owning to lack of leaders and organization on the part of local committees, practically nothing has been done towards keeping the boys together. Mr. Johnson decided that in the fall he would again visit the Pass towns and see if re-organization can be effected. The movement is well worthy of their man with em quads.... Mr. support on the part of parents."

Rehabilitation Plans

Regardless of political affiliations and whether one agrees or not with the program in its entirety, residents of the prairie provinces will be well advised to contribute wholehearted co-operation to the Federal government's rehabilitation plans for the so-called drought area, at the very least until such time as experience and experimentation show that these plans are not feasible and will not achieve the desired objectives.

There may be some difference of opinion among technical experts, and even among laymen, as to the extent of the benefits that may be realized from the application of some of the policies embraced within the scheme, but the point is that the fundamental principle of the entire project, namely to conserve moisture and restore fertility to depleted soils, is not only sound, but its achievement is vital to the future economic welfare of the entire country.

Until the program in its entirety has been given a fair trial it is impossible to say with any degree of assurance what phases of it will bring the desired results, or to what extent any particular project within the scheme will be beneficial to maximum degree. It is quite on the cards that some phases of the projected plans will work wonders in some districts of the affected territory, whereas the same policies in other districts would prove a disappointment.

There is little doubt that this is recognized by governmental authorities and advisory committees being set up to devise policies and by departmental officials who will be charged with putting them into effect. Indeed, enough has already been published in the daily press to indicate that experts and authorities are aware of the necessity of tempering plans to suit local conditions.

In addition to assisting these plans to fruition with moral as well as active support, it is highly desirable that the general public exercise a considerable degree of patience, for as Rome was not built in a day, so also, the ultimate benefits of this or any other program of rehabilitation cannot be realized overnight.

Agricultural and other practices which have brought large sections of the three prairie provinces to the verge of desert conditions, have been carried on over a period of many years and it will take some time, no matter how vigorously and speedily plans are put into operation, before they will yield a harvest in restored fertility and improved conditions.

There is no doubt that even with heartiest co-operation on the part of all concerned, the process will be an uphill, a laborious and an expensive process, but the effort will repay itself a thousandfold if, as a result of it, western agriculture becomes more stabilized than it has been in the past six or seven years.

That the authorities in charge of the undertaking realize that rehabilitation will be costly is indicated by the fact that the appropriation of two million dollars made by Parliament at the recent session only provides for the first year's effort of a program which may be expected to require anywhere from five to ten years to bring the plans to anything approaching completion.

There are not lacking, even in the west, some who may occasionally be heard advocating the return of the prairies to the Indians and the gophers, but such talk is ridiculous when one remembers what has been achieved by western agriculture in past years. What has been done in the past can be done again, once the ravages of past malpractices have been remedied. Mistakes must be recognized and fences—metaphorical ones—repaired.

With changing conditions in world markets for the products of Western Canadian fields and with changing consumer tastes, it may be difficult to forecast the trend of prairie agriculture for the future, but one thing is certain, no matter what is the direction of future demands in these or in markets yet to be developed, the soil must be made fit to cope with these requirements and that is the main objective of the rehabilitation program. Once fertility is restored and the soil properly anchored in areas now more or less denuded and subject to drifting, the west will be able to comply with demands of its markets, whether domestic or foreign, and farmers in these areas will again become self-sustaining.

The solution for the future may lie in greater diversification. It may lie in drastic modification of cultural methods in the grain fields. It may lie in the cultivation of new crops or new varieties. It may lie in the greater use of agricultural by-products. It may lie in greater industrial use of the products of the field and it may lie in a combination of all or any of these.

But whatever the future trend may be, it is a foregone conclusion that the basis must first be laid in conservation of moisture, in one or a number of forms, and in restoration of fertility of the soil.

Problem For China

Facilities For Treating Million Lepers Are Very Inadequate

An appeal for increased activity in the detection and treatment of leprosy was sent to the Chinese National Government at Nankin after delegates to the Third National Leprosy Conference calculated China has at least 1,000,000 lepers and facilities for treating not more than 2,000.

At the conference, 859 foreign and Chinese physicians decided to ask the Nankin Government to provide special leprosy training in all medical colleges.

Delegates declared there are "only a handful" of trained doctors in China who "know anything about the treatment of leprosy, which is believed to affect one person in each 400 of population."

The conference was held 2,000 lepers room at large in Shanghai, in no way segregated or restrained. The annual report of the Shanghai National Leprosarium, now slightly more than a year old, showed the building had accommodation for 150 patients but lack of funds limited the number of lepers treated to 75.

The King's War Service

Started In Navy But Later He Joined Royal Air Force

George VI, as Prince Albert, entered the naval service as a cadet at 14, and was serving on the battleship Collingwood at the outbreak of the Great War. He was aboard her at the Battle of Jutland, in 1916, served in the forward gun turret and was mentioned in despatches.

Toward the end of 1917 he entered the Royal Air Force and a month before the Armistice went to France on the R.A.F. staff, remaining until the close of hostilities.

The King suffered frequently from illness during his naval career, and in 1914 was removed to hospital for an appendicitis operation. Although he had not completely recovered he returned to sea and served aboard until he joined the staff of the Commander-in-Chief at Portsmouth. He again returned to sea, but had to submit to another operation.

Joining the air force in 1917, he reached the rank of squadron leader, wing commander and group captain.

Doing A Good Job

Alpiners Are Carving Out New Highways Every Day

Quite recently air crashes in the United States have temporarily shaken the faith of the public. But the aeroplanes are still carrying their passengers across the continent every day. People may have various opinions about the safety and reliability of air travel, but none can gainsay the fact that aeroplanes are daily carving out new air highways and are doing their job with a prompt disregard of everything but the task in hand.

The steam engine and the automobile were regarded with horror in their early stages. But where would we be to-day without them? And, fifty years hence, perhaps earlier, the youngster of to-day may scornfully refer to the attitude which their forefathers held towards aeroplanes and air travel.—Montreal Star.

Sawfly Destroys Forests

Impervious The Raw Material Of Newspaper Industry

Government officials are renewing their attack on the spruce sawfly, an insect which imperils the raw material of the whole Canadian newspaper industry.

Surveying ravages caused by this European insect which kills trees by eating the leaves, Dr. Arthur Gibson, Dominion entomologist, declared:

"The sawfly is undoubtedly the gravest menace to the Canadian forest industry. Forestry men now recognize it as a danger of greater gravity than forest fires."

"By the end of this year the sawfly will have destroyed 7,000 square miles of spruce in the Gaspé peninsula alone. It has spread through New Brunswick and into Nova Scotia and is moving westward toward Ontario."

Mature spruce available for the lumbering industry is estimated at 60,422,000,000 cubic feet, natural wealth equivalent to $1,000 for every man, woman and child in the country.

Provincial forestry services are co-operating with the Dominion in fighting the pest. Pulp and paper companies have been aroused to the danger and a group of their key men gathered in the office of J. J. Gryse, one of Dr. Gibson's assistants, to learn methods of combating the infestation.

The fly was first discovered in 1930 after forestry men reported leafless and dying trees in eastern Canada. Dr. Gibson said it might have been in Canada for 30 or 40 years.

So firmly has the insect become established that entomologists expect years, perhaps decades, will be taken to conquer it.

In Central Europe, native habitat of the sawfly, another small fly keeps it in check. This natural control has not been available in Canada and to combat the sawfly millions of the smaller parasites are being imported.

Food For Tourists

Must Be Good Or They Will Not Stay Very Long

A woman down in Wisconsin writes to the secretary of the Windsor Chamber of Commerce asking for the address of a butcher shop from which she can order some good Canadian bacon. This woman, it appears, hails from Ontario last summer and since then her mouth has been watering for some of the bacon she tasted.

"This is advertising of the ugliest order," Canada counts heavily on its tourist traffic and no country can hope to attract tourists without a reputation for serving good food. If the food is bad, those who do come are not likely to stay long. If the food is good, they are liable to stretch their visit out a little.—Windsor Daily Star.

Cancer Research

Corn Starch Said To Be A Potential Counteractive For Disease

Corn starch emerged from scientific laboratories as a potential counteractive for cancer. The discovery was outlined in the fourth annual report of the international cancer research foundation.

Dr. Robert Chambers and associates at New York University biology department reported they injected corn starch into mice having tumors that ordinarily kill them in two weeks. Instead of dying the mice were cured in 30 days.

Similar experiments with oil of wintergreen were nearly as successful, the researchers reported. But, the foundation report, emphasized, they are merely experiments and cancer patients should beware of quacks who may sell them as "cures."

Eight researchers of the Royal Cancer Hospital, London, set out to investigate the theory that the human body, like a huge test tube, may bring together chemicals whose combination causes cancer. They reported the most potent cancer-producing compound found, were choline and methyl-choline, which, when applied on mice.

SELECTED RECIPES

CHOCOLATE BLANC MANGE

2 cups milk
1/4 cup sugar
1/4 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons Benson's Corn Starch
4 tablespoons cocoa
1/4 cup cold milk
1/4 cup Crown Brand Corn Syrup
2 cups milk in top of double boiler; make a paste of the sugar, salt, Benson's Corn Starch, cocoa, 1/4 cup cold milk and the Crown Brand Corn Syrup. Pour slowly into hot milk, stirring constantly until thick. Cover and cook for 15 minutes, stirring occasionally. Turn into mould. Chill and serve with whipped cream or ice cream.

Theory Was Correct

But Pilot Took Big Chance When Testing His Idea

Professor F. A. Lindemann was during the war an experimental pilot at Farnborough. One of his tasks was to investigate the causes of spinning nose-dives. He worked out a theory in the laboratory, and then tested it by taking a machine up into the air and deliberately putting it into a spin. His theory proved to be right, says the News of the World. Professor Lindemann is also an expert on air defence, believing that it is quite feasible to prevent enemy aircraft from crossing British shores.

Save The Bluenose

Famous Boat Should Be Preserved As A National Memorial

It reminds us that many a famous ship familiar to Nova Scotian waters in other times has disappeared forever, leaving no trace except a name that lives in the memories of a few who recall its history.

And then again, we have more modern vessels, one in particular, the fishing schooner Bluenose, which has gone back to the occupation of a working fisherman again. Some day—and it is always a haunting dread—we may hear of the loss of the Bluenose as other staunch vessels have been lost before.

We have tried through these columns to impress upon the authorities, both federal and provincial, the desirability of preserving the Bluenose as the most authentically Nova Scotian thing we have to-day. Whatever her actual value may be as a fishing schooner, her sentimental value has gone back to the coast in terms of money. And as the percentage of chance constantly narrows against a vessel, the time to take over the Bluenose and preserve her as a national or provincial memorial is right now.—Halifax Herald.

Right Hon. Stanley Bruce Established Record In Australian Politics

The Right Hon. Stanley Melbourne Bruce, High Commissioner of Australia in London, who is 51 years old, has his birthplace commemorated in his second name, but he was educated in England, and rowed in the Cambridge boat when it beat Oxford in 1904. He entered politics after serving with great distinction in the war, in 1918, and within five years was prime minister. He established a record in Australian politics by remaining head of a continuous federal government for over five years.

Honolulu Is, Geographically Speaking, Largest City In World

Geographically, at least, Honolulu is the largest city in the world. When boundaries were set after the islands became an American territory, it was specified that all islands of the group not included in any other country were to be under jurisdiction of and a part of Honolulu.

This ruling extended the city limits to Palmyra Island, 900 miles south, and to Ocean or Kure Island, approximately 1,700 miles to the northwest.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Do not use any ointment, or any drug, a package of Hemoroids and use the Hemoroid Cream which is used internally, quickly relieve the itching and soreness and will relieve the pain. It is used externally, it is a physician's prescription and it seems the best of all for Hemoroids which is so pleasant to use may be had of such a reasonable cost.

Daring Soviet Aviators Make Safe Landing At The North Pole

Moscow.—Daring Soviet aviators Friday carried the first aerial landing party to the North Pole. An expedition of 11 men, having flown over the pole, was landed safely on an ice floe about 20 kilometres (13 miles) from the top of the world.

The expedition was headed by Dr. Otto J. Schmidt, picturesque bearded director of the Soviet's "northern sea route," leader and planner of many ambitious Arctic projects.

The flight was made from Rudolph Island, about 82 degrees north and 69 east for about 560 miles from the pole.

The successful landing brought to a successful climax years of preparation by Soviet scientists and aviators looking toward establishment of an air base at the north pole and an ambitious program of polar exploration by plane.

M. V. Vodopyanov was pilot of the plane. He took his heavily-loaded, four-motored craft off the new landing field at Rudolph island at dawn. The landing was six hours, 10 minutes later.

Before coming down the plane circled the pole many times looking for a landing field.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, announced the pole was reached at 11:30 a.m., and the landing made at 11:35 a.m., at the time of the meridian of Rudolph island. (That would make the times about 12:10 a.m. and 12:35 a.m. M.S.T.)

Immediately after landing the party began preparing a landing field for four other planes at dawn at the Rudolph island base. They are to take to the pole supplies and equipment for the establishment of a base which will remain there for about one year.

News of the exploit reached Moscow by radio messages relayed through Rudolph island.

It was delayed, however, because Vodopyanov's radio apparatus was broken in the landing and repairs required several hours.

Vodopyanov was one of the three Soviet aviators who spent more than a month last year in aerial surveys of the Arctic in preparation for Friday's adventure.

The other two, Vasily Sergeyevich Molokoff and Alexander Alishev, accompanied him to Rudolph island several weeks ago (and presumably were on this flight).

"The welcome reports did not reach Moscow until late Friday night. Then came in a radio despatch from Prof. Schmidt to Joseph Stalin and Premier V. M. Molotov, which read:

"We send you, through the Dickinson Island radio station, greetings from the north pole.

Aboard the Soviet plane, U.S.S.I.-170 we crossed the pole at 11:10 Friday morning. In order to obtain the best results we passed a little beyond the pole seeking a landing field.

We first crossed the pole at 17:50 metres and then came down to 250 metres through the clouds, seeking a place to land.

"At 11:35 a.m. we landed. "We are sorry to report that difficulty with the radio apparatus delayed reports to you.

"We are about 20 kilometres beyond the pole and a little to the west of Rudolph Island meridian. We are on an ice floe, but it is possible to bring other planes here to establish a polar station.

"Our regards to the government and the (Communist) party."

Home Improvement Plan Success Based On Fair Dealing

Ottawa. Fair dealing by all concerned is the only basis on which success of the home improvement plan can be based, the national employment commission declared in a statement.

The commission, founder of the loan plan, said the statement was prompted by "items and editorials appearing in the newspaper referring to increasing cost of building materials on the ground they will retard recovery."

The plan had come into being by co-operation of the Dominion government and the banks and had been

May Head Air Line

Donald R. MacLaren, Noted War Ace, Joins Administrative Staff

Moscow.—A famed Canadian wartime pilot, credited with shooting down 48 enemy planes and six service balloons during the Great War, joined the administration staff of the government-owned trans-Canada air line.

Transport Minister C. D. Howe announced appointment of Donald R. MacLaren, at present Pacific division manager of Canadian Airways, after a conference with executives of the Canadian National Railways.

Though MacLaren's name has been mentioned prominently as general manager of the new line expected to begin operations late this summer, the minister did not say the noted aviator had been appointed to any specific job. "At present," said Mr. Howe, after the two-hour meeting, "he (MacLaren) is doing some preliminary work for us."

He is well known for his pioneering of the skyways of British Columbia, and his knowledge of the hazardous Rocky Mountain air lanes is counted on for help in starting the new service.

Major MacLaren has expressed belief a 20-hour flying service between Vancouver and Halifax is practicable, and for years he has been working toward the time when this schedule might operate.

Saskatchewan Wheat Pool

J. H. Wesson Is Elected President Of Organization

Regina, J. H. Wesson, practical farmer for 30 years and a member of the Saskatchewan wheat pool since its inception, was elected president of the organization by the directors at a board meeting here.

Mr. Wesson fills the position made vacant by the recent death of L. C. Brault.

"A. F. Sprule, farmer of the La Fliche district," was named vice-president to fill the position formerly held by Mr. Wesson.

Mr. Wesson was born at Sheffield, England, in 1887 and has farmed at Maidstone, in the northwest of the province, since 1907. In the wheat pool, he has been a director of the organization since 1924, when it was formed, and has been vice-president since 1931.

Mr. Sprule has been a pool director since 1924 and for several years a member of the executive committee.

The Former Enemy

London.—"The former enemy" will no longer be so termed in official communications of the British Legion. It was decided at the closing session of the war veterans' annual conference here. It is expected the name of the country referred to will be used instead.

Move To Higher Ground

London.—Ont. Many residents want to move out of the area affected by the disastrous flood three weeks ago. Five home-owners have filed applications for city-owned lots with a view to moving their houses. The city indicated it was agreeable to trading lots on higher ground.

Empire Troops In Britain

Londoners Are Anxious To See Formal March Through Streets

London.—London wants to see more of the Empire troops here for the coronation.

The press persists in its demands for a formal march through London streets. Imports bodies such as the Royal Empire Society, the Overseas League and the British Empire League are taking up the matter.

Letters to the editors of newspapers urge another appearance by the Empire contingents. One letter on the subject published in The Telegraph was signed by Field Marshals Lord Milne, Sir Philip Chetwode and Sir Claude Jacob.

Difficulties stand in the way of such a march, however. For one thing most of the men are now holidaying in various parts of the country and do not wish to return to London until immediately before sailing for home.

Londoners claim they have not had ample opportunity of seeing these men from the Empire. In the coronation procession they held a secondary position to United Kingdom units, and their only other formal appearance—the march to Buckingham Palace to receive coronation medals from the king—was extremely brief.

The Canadian particularly have not been seen to any great extent because, unlike the Australians, New Zealanders and Rhodesians, they did not march from station to barracks on their arrival. Instead of going to London the Canadians arrived quietly at camp Pirbright in Surrey and slipped into London a couple of days before the coronation.

Air Mail Across Atlantic

United States Postmaster-General Looks For Service Within A Year

New York.—Trans-Atlantic air-mail service will be a reality within a year, James A. Farley, United States postmaster-general, declared here as he opened a new postoffice building in downtown New York.

"The recent splendid achievement of Dick Merrill emphasized once more that trans-Atlantic air mail is imminent," he said of the round-trip flight Merrill and John Launier completed recently.

"Within a year, certainly within the next calendar year, we can expect to have air mail across the Atlantic," Farley said. "This government is co-operating with foreign governments to bring this about."

Fresh Fish Export Trade

To Establish Credit Investigation Bureau In New York

Ottawa.—A conference of government officials interested in the fresh fish export trade to the United States will be held here this week. It was announced by officials of the trade and commerce department. Representatives are expected from Ontario, Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

The main purpose of the conference will be to establish a credit investigation bureau in New York as a protection against fishermen sending goods on consignment to persons who later prove financially irresponsible.

LEADS GOOD-WILL PARTY

Brigadier-General Alex Ross, Dominion President of the Canadian Legion, who will head the Canadian Legion's goodwill party which will visit Germany shortly as guests of the Union of Front-Liner Associations.

Sabotage In B.C.

Eleven Buildings Destroyed Or Damaged In West Kootenay

Nelson, B.C. British Columbia police were dispatched to two widely-separated centres in the predominantly Doukhobor-settled West Kootenay territory to investigate possible occurrences of sabotage which has already destroyed or damaged 11 buildings since April 4.

Corporal C. W. A. Barwis was sent to Wainlaw, B.C., 10 miles to the northwest, where a farm building was razed. The blaze was reported by C. S. Jones, one of a score of guards posted around schools and public buildings after the April outbreaks.

From Castlegar, B.C., 25 miles west, police learned all but one of the clumps holding the mooring cable on the Columbia river ferry had been removed. Prompt discovery of the tampering prevented the boat being swept down the swift-running river.

The two investigations began less than 24 hours after provincial officers at Grand Forks, B.C., 50 miles southwest of here, reported a 16-year-old Doukhobor youth had admitted placing obstructions on the main line Canadian Pacific Railway tracks near that town.

No charge has been laid against the youth, pending instruction from British Columbia police headquarters at Victoria.

New Air Race

Belleville, Ont. The entire flying personnel of Camp Borden will be moved to the Royal Canadian Air Force base near Trenton, June 15, it was reported here. Ninety officers will be quartered at the air base instead of the present 25. A new unit of "seaplane and air navigation" is being organized. The expensive Blackburn Shark bombers recently acquired will also soon be flying.

THE KING'S PICTURESQUE ORDERLIES

Among the most colorful participants in the Coronation festivities in London were the four orderlies from India who were in attendance upon His Majesty. This picture shows the orderlies when they visited Buckingham Palace.

The King And Queen Inspect Warships In Monster Naval Review

Portsmouth.—King George VI, who 21 years ago was a sub-lieutenant on one of the warships in the Battle of Jutland, inspected the might and majesty of the navy which he is now commander-in-chief.

With Queen Elizabeth, 11-year-old Princess Elizabeth and the Duke and Duchess of Kent, the newly-crowned monarch surveyed the polished, beflagged armada of about 140 British and 17 foreign warcraft in Spithead waters off here, arrayed for a gala review in honor of his coronation.

The king inspected the vessels from the Victoria and Albert, which steamed through the lanes followed by the admiralty yacht Enchantress, with the British cabinet and dominion prime ministers aboard. In its wake were the steamers Strathmore, Laurentic and Cameronia, carrying 3,000 imperial delegates, members of parliament and foreign dignitaries.

Battleships, cruisers, destroyers and submarines of the Mediterranean and home fleets, with the foreign guest vessels and about 140 passenger-bearing craft, large and small, were drawn in herringbone fashion to flank nine long lanes through which the royal party was to pass in formal review on the yacht Victoria and Albert.

The Duke of Kent was present as personal aide-de-camp to the king and the little princess, Elizabeth, heiress presumptive to the throne, was there because she had never before been to sea and had persuaded her parents it was time she learned something of yachts and navies.

Hours before the review, Princess Elizabeth, up early, was sighted on the top deck of the royal yacht Victoria and Albert surveying the spectacular scene. Then, while her parents were still below, she went ashore with her attendants, eagerly asking questions of those about her. She was particularly curious about the British Broadcasting Corporation's apparatus for use in describing the review.

At 10:30 a.m. the king received aboard the yacht the board of admiralty, the commanders-in-chief of the home and Mediterranean fleets, the commanding officers of the Canadian, New Zealand and Indian units, the senior officers of 15 foreign navies and representatives of the merchant navy and the fishing fleets. The queen was present and shook hands with all. The king gave coronation medals to the foreign officers.

The king was attended by a bevy of admirals. He wore the undress uniform of an admiral of the fleet. The queen wore a beige gown and fur-trimmed coat, with beige hat. Princess Elizabeth wore a blue dress and had on a pink coat.

Aboard the Victoria the king was given a souvenir paper knife and the queen and Princess Elizabeth brooches. The queen pocketed hers but Princess Elizabeth stopped to pin hers to her lapel. The princess was also given a souvenir book dealing with the history of the Victory.

Meanwhile crowds were gathering on the jetties and sight-seeing vessels were puffing about the harbor.

The sloping pebble beach below the two-mile esplanade at Southsea, adjoining Portsmouth, became a people-blackened grandstand, while the Hampshire and Isle of Wight shores supported more thousands.

War Against 'Hoppers

Will Be Carried On By Army Of Men On Pralies

Ottawa.—Grasshoppers are hatching on the prairies and an army of men waits to launch an attack on the destructive pests.

The next two or three weeks will tell the story, H. G. Crawford, of the entomological branch in the agricultural department, said.

"Dry weather is favorable to their development. If there are plentiful rains in Saskatchewan and Alberta, vegetation will get a head start on the insects. Also, in wet weather the grasshoppers die of disease."

The war against grasshoppers is carried out every year through co-operation of Dominion and provincial governments.

Throughout the badly-infested area of Saskatchewan and Alberta Mr. Crawford said, poisoned mash has been distributed to farmers and will be sown in the fields as the grasshoppers hatch and crawl out of the ground where the eggs are laid.

The federal survey indicates more than 33,000,000 acres are threatened with infestation. This is an increase of 9,500,000 acres from last year.

Mr. Crawford had a few good words to say for the greedy pests. "They are something of a blessing in disguise in Manitoba. Before they were practically wiped out by wet weather in 1935 they had cleaned up nearly all the sow thistles in the province."

Dick Merrill Visits Toronto

Trans-Atlantic Flyer Dines With Ontario Premier

Toronto.—None the worse for his near crack-up in landing here, Dick Merrill, trans-Atlantic flyer, dined with Mitchell Hepburn, Ontario's premier. Other guests were his co-pilot, Jack Lambie, and Ben Smith, New York broker and backer of Merrill's coronation flight to London and return to New York.

A thousand persons who gathered to see the hero of two Atlantic double crossings rushed toward the big silver monoplane after it almost cracked up after striking a mudhole on the Toronto Flying Club field. The big ship bounded and swayed dizzily before coming down on its wheels.

He said he would never again bring a ship down on the field here because it was in much different condition. The risk was too great.

Phone To China

Washington.—Direct radio telephone communication between the United States and China began May 10th in a state department ceremony attended by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt and high American and Chinese officials.

Wholesale Executions Take Place In Russia For Plotting Wrecks

Moscow.—Execution of 43 men and one woman for plotting railway wrecks in Siberian military areas was announced in a terse communication published by the newspaper Pacific Star at Khabarovsk in Siberia.

The communication said the military collegium of the supreme court determined the 44, all Russians, acted at "the orders of the Japanese secret service" and that they were followers of the exiled Leon Trotsky, one-time war commissar now in Mexico.

The entire zone east of Baikal is considered of vital military importance to Russia, and agents arrested the group after investigations throughout that area.

The executions by firing squads were at Svobodny 11 days ago. Officials here said they could add no details.

The executions were the largest in number within the past three years.

They were executed in 1934, after the assassination of Sergei M. Kiroff, chief aide to Joseph Stalin.

They were the first also since the government's drive against the oppositionists began two months ago.

Thousands of suspects are believed to be under arrest throughout the nation and the Russian press has been enlisted in the drive to warn citizens to guard against supposed secret agents.

Citizens are cautioned against discussing industrial information, to avoid foreigners, and to guard carefully important papers and official seals or stamps, if they are government employees.

Diplomatic officials and foreigners on recognized business say they are finding their Russian contacts increasingly limited and that conversation more and more must be confined to generalities.

The press has directed the brunt of its charges against Germany and Japan—whose agents are alleged to swarm the country.

The official newspaper Pravda relates spies pose as Russian, become adept in the language, work in industries, marry Soviet girls to obtain information, then divorce them to marry someone else and gain more information.

THURSDAY, MAY 27, 1937

NOTES AND COMMENTS

VICTORIA DAY, anniversary of the birth of Queen Victoria, great grandmother of King George VI., coming so soon after the Coronation, was somewhat eclipsed in its usual observance. The Pass towns observed it in the usual manner, and fortunately it was favored by fine weather.

In Coleman the First Aid competitions between teams of the various mining companies of the Pass, as well as Canmore, aroused plenty of interest. Commendation is due to all who took part, as well as the judges and executive officials, for spending their holiday in the promotion of humanitarian work whereby their services may be of value in emergencies not only in the mines but also in other directions.

At Bellevue the usual May Day and Victoria Day observances were combined under the direction of the Rev. and Mrs. K. Upton, whose activities in community work are deserving of tributes of appreciation. Mrs. Upton's talents as a singer and organizer of the girls' organizations there have borne fruit and her good work is truly deserving of expressions of appreciation.

THE DEMORALIZING of the civil service of this province is unprecedented throughout Canada. It has been prostituted in the most flagrant and disgraceful manner. The usual "pork-barrel" methods so often complained of in political circles in the United States are mild in comparison. Mr. Aberhart piously asks his radio audience not to believe all the stories told about him, but the evidence is all too plain in the resignations and dismissals of deputy ministers and subordinates since he took office. If Mrs. Gostick told the truth, then Mr. Aberhart followed a cowardly course in permitting these dismissals to be made. So far he has given either no reason at all or flimsy excuses, never rising on the floor of the legislature to answer his critics, and taking refuge behind a microphone in his pulpit on Sunday, where, amid the handclapping of a congregation of sub-normal people, his sarcasm and clumsy wit receives inane applause.

REACTION to these evils is slower in the rural areas than in the cities. Mr. Aberhart knew when he advised people not to read the newspapers opposed to him that they would hear only his side of the story. The reason of his boycotts is all too plain. He did not want his weaknesses exposed. That also is the reason he does not arise in debate in the legislature; it is the reason he refuses to meet any of the insurgents in open debate in his public meetings; it is the reason those who dared to ask questions at his meetings were howled down. He says he will be kind and forgiving to the insurgents if they will return to the fold. Undoubtedly so! Anything to retain the office of premier with its emoluments far in excess of his salary as a high school principal. The voice of the demagogue booming forth over the air every Sunday has an immense advantage over his opponents, but public opinion will become so sickened of these hypocritical tactics of blasting forth political propaganda under the guise of Prophetic Bible instruction that the day of reckoning cannot be long delayed. Then the singing of the hymn—"There'll Be No Disappointments in Heaven," which is one of his favorites, will be particularly appropriate.

POLITICAL fences are being repaired. In this part of Rocky Mountain constituency, party lines have converged rather than diverged, owing to the peculiar circumstances prevailing. Liberals and Conservatives have in the past two elections joined forces. Not for years, probably not in its history, has this district been represented by a member of the major political parties, and the result has been that few government favors have been bestowed. We simply did not have a representative that had sufficient power to press any claims for government recognition—we were just left out in the cold or hanging on the end of a limb. Why bother with that neck of the woods, or mountains, possibly reflected those high in authority. We have fared no better with Mr. Duke as representative. Let us hope that instead of a "yes man" we will have someone with force and energy that will let Edmonton know in no uncertain voice that this industrial area has to be reckoned with. So, we will watch the outcome of the Liberal convention with more than ordinary interest.

The midnight preview of "College Holiday" at the Palace theatre on Sunday was attended by a capacity house. The picture will be shown in the regular run at a later date.

Mr. Tom Clarke, of Macleod, was here over the holiday visiting his son and daughter-in-law. Despite his years, he is very active and appears as well as ever.

"Bill" Martland received an injury last week which has necessitated a stay in hospital for awhile. It happened in the mine. Fortunately no bones were broken.

Violet Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Wilson, Sixth Street, who went to England several weeks ago, has been engaged as a stenographer by the firm of Lever Bros., Purfleet, Essex, where they have a large manufacturing plant. During the Convention festivities, the Indian princess visited the plant.

Admitting inability to put into effect that which was oh, so easy, when Premier Aberhart was seeking votes, so-called experts are being sought to come from England to tell us how to run the province. What a sorry spectacle a government that cannot govern, and knows nothing of the plan by which it fooled the people into voting for it.

Mr. and Mrs. S. B. Ryan spent the week-end at Calgary visiting Mr. Ryan's mother.

Mr. and Mrs. T. Holstead and daughter motored to Lethbridge over the week-end.

Joe Ondrus left Wednesday for northern Alberta where he will trap and prospect for a number of months. He will be joined by Joe Mahovitch of West Coleman this week-end at Edmonton, both boys making the trek into the northland together.

Seen at Lethbridge during the week-end were Mr. and Mrs. J. Richards, Mr. and Mrs. M. Joyce, Mr. and Mrs. D. Nevey, Mr. and Mrs. J. Park, Mr. and Mrs. T. McCloy, Mr. and Mrs. R. Gillies, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gillies, Miss M. Gillies, Miss Janet Gillespie, D. Smith, J. Smith and R. Jackson.

Although the hockey season is just over, and next season is some six months away, rumours are rife re the West Kootenay situation next winter. Rumour has it that Harry Brown will become playing coach of the Trail Smoke Eaters, and that Jack Forsay will also line-up with the Trail squad—Kimberley News.

Town Council

Those present were Mayor Pattinson, Councillors Haysom, Chapman, Allan and Borrowas. The minutes of the last meeting were read and adopted.

A petition from Mr. J. L. Lonsbury regarding the burning of the lights on the High school was presented and on the motion of Councillors Antrobus and Borrowas was ordered to be passed on to the school board.

Regarding the municipal convention to be held in Edmonton on June 10 and 11, Councillors Haysom and Chapman moved that no delegate be sent. An amendment was made to this motion by Councillors Antrobus and Allan that a delegate be sent, namely Mayor Pattinson. This amendment was carried.

An application was received from F. Abousafy requesting that the avenue close to his property be graded. On the motion of Councillors Haysom and Borrowas the matter was left in the hands of the Works and Property committee, who will report at the next regular meeting.

Junior Tennis Tournament

Chick Roughhead and Margaret McLeod Winners—Keen Interest in Hotly Contested Games.

Displaying good form, Ralph Rippon and Frank Sharp stroked their way to the junior doubles championship of the junior tennis club last week end before a formidable array of opposition. Tied with Owen Jones and John Rogers at the end of regulation play, Rippon and Sharp won in the play-offs to win the championship and two tennis balls each as their prize.

Teams entered were Naylor-Ledieu, Devine-McLeod, S. Devine-Borden, Spillars-Salvador, R. Borden-Russell.

Caroe-White, Beddington-Booth.

A small boys' tournament was also held with Bill Graham showing his opponents a few tricks of the game to win the championship and a prize of two tennis balls. Just to make it a family affair, brother Peter won second place by defeating Graham Atkinson in the play-offs for second place. J. Jones, the fourth entrant, was right on the winner's heels, just missing out by a few points.

The senior mixed doubles tournament staged Sunday was won by the smart combination of Roughhead and M. McLeod. Nine teams were entered but were unable to hold this combination, who won with a few points to spare.

The refreshment committee, composed of the Misses Atkinson, Halliwell, Bell and Naylor, were complimented in their efficient handling of refreshments, as well as Wm. Bell of the Grand Union hotel, who generously donated a large number of soft drinks to the club during the tournament.

Sunday Games Not Favored

Lethbridge Football Association May Not Permit Games on Sabbath—League Arrangements Badly Upset.

The Crow Football League made a poor start last week end, as three games scheduled to be played were cancelled. Michel were still unorganized and uncertain if they would enter the league, although included in the schedule. Miners of Lethbridge, unaware of the procedure regarding arrangements, left their decision regarding time of game until too late and Coleman cancelled the game. The Harlequin-Coleman game was cancelled when Harlequins failed to keep a financial agreement made here on May 9. An exhibition game with Harlequins was arranged, but a drenching rain on Sunday washed that game into the discard.

Difficulty is now experienced by the Lethbridge teams as to whether they will be allowed to play Sunday games in the city. At a meeting held at Lethbridge on Sunday doubt was expressed by members of the Lethbridge District Football Association whether permission would be given the Lethbridge teams.

Since some teams in the Crow League have just enough money to make one trip to Lethbridge, a Sunday game becomes essential and for that reason the success or failure of the present league lies in the Lethbridge Association's decision regarding Sunday games. Should the association decide against the Sunday games, the chances of Lethbridge teams remaining in the league becomes a matter of conjecture and a Crow League meeting will have to be called to decide the matter.

Kimberley will play Coleman at the local grounds Saturday.

Idol In Court Case

Sacred Hindoo Image Lost Appeal To British Privy Council

A small, metal female idol, so sacred that she is never touched, figured for 20 years in litigation which has come to an end before the judicial committee of the privy council.

Members of the committee, with the murmur of London's traffic in their ears, can never have heard a stranger appeal. The idol was constructed about the middle of the 19th century by two Hindoo brothers. They installed her in their home and began to worship her. Their business began to prosper rapidly.

In 1888 two sons of one of the brothers dedicated land to the idol by a deed. Later, there was an arrangement for partition of the property. This led to litigation, and the high court at Fort William, Bengal, held that the idol was entitled only to part of the property specified in the deed and the income from the rest.

It was against this decision that the idol, through her sheik or guardian, appealed to the judicial committee, which upheld the finding of the Bengal court, and ordered the idol to pay costs.

The idol, which is about a foot square by six inches deep, is in the form of a swastika, or rather eight swastikas, all made of different metals and laid one on top of the other. It is kept in a room devoted solely to its worship in a specially built house.

The priest appointed to attend it renders acts of worship, burns incense before it and makes offerings of sweets and flowers, which are afterwards given to the poor. It is a common thing among certain Hindoo families, particularly in Bengal, to establish such family idols. Trusts are formed under a special Hindoo law, under which property is vested in the idol in perpetuity.

Will Keep Wartime Promise

Welsh Peer Entertaining Men He Led In France

Lord Davies of Llandinam will fulfill soon a promise he shouted to his men as he led them "over the top" in France, 22 years ago. Unemployed miners, teachers, business men, and others from all parts of Wales will be guests at his home for a fortnight in July. During the war Lord Davies was Colonel in the Royal Welsh Fusiliers. As he led one attack, he called along the line that all who came through should spend a fortnight at his home. Now the invitations have gone out. Ex-Private George Bennett in Connecticut, may be one of the guests. He is accompanying a Welsh-American contingent to the National Eldestedoff at Machynlleth.

Mother—"Did you sterilize the baby's milk to kill the germs?"

New Maid—"Oh, my, yes, ma'am. I ran it through the meat chopper twice."

Promoter Of Friendship

King George Doing Good Work With His Vacation Camp

A key to the outlook of the man who has been crowned ruler of the world's greatest empire may well lie in the story of the principal pet hobby of George VI. It is a boys' camp in Southwold, an experiment in social service which the King maintains at his expense.

This is no ordinary vacation camp. An idea motivates it. The plan is to bring together a number of British public school boys—from Eton, Harrow, and other well-known schools—and a group of youngsters from the industrial districts. These associate at the yearly camping holiday, taking part in games and all sorts of activities.

A distinguished British writer who visited the camp with the then Duke of York described the astonishing lack of class consciousness and perfect comradeship that prevailed. Moreover, the boys seemed quite at ease with their royal friend, while they first cheered and then splashed while they bathed together.

If George VI. is the kind of man boys Jack Miner is the type men are certain to admire. Bringing about harmony and friendships between so-called "upper class" youngsters and the sons of factory workers, he is helping to lay the groundwork of co-operation between capital and labor. Teaching boys to work and play and live together, King George is using a very good foundation plan for the men and women of the home country and the whole British Commonwealth of Nations—indeed, for all mankind—Christian Science Monitor.

Future Man

Will Have Only Six Teeth In Each Jaw Predicts Dentist

A million years from now everybody will look like Andy Gump and there will be only 12 teeth for every human, Dr. Charles A. Sweet, of Oakland, Calif., told the Ontario Dental Association at its annual meeting in Toronto. "Future man will have only six teeth in each jaw," he said.

The doctor said that prehistoric man had four molars, but that, one by one, the teeth which we weren't using to crack dinosaur bones and much corn were disappearing so that the wisdom tooth was on the edge of extinction. Man was in time to lose his laterals and other teeth and will have very little chin and a huge head.

"We haven't the teeth that the cave man had," said Dr. Sweet. "Only five out of a hundred of the aborigines had dental trouble. But if anybody living in the world today just trusts to luck with their teeth there's only one chance out of 2,500 that they'll die with a full jaw."

Wants To Learn Flying

Bishop Of Arctic eager To Pilot His Own Plane

Cured of "Arctic blindness", Bishop Peter Falzlar has returned to his beloved Eskimoes on Canada's north coast with a new aeroplane and a new ambition—the ambition to fly. The Roman Catholic bishop stopped off at Toronto long enough to reveal his latest interest.

Bishop Falzlar said he had long dreamed of an air fan and now would like to pilot his own plane at the Arctic. He learned to drive sled dogs, to paddle a canoe, to hunt and build a snow hut during his 24 years in the Arctic and believes he is yet young enough to learn to fly.

Only three times in the 24 years has the bishop quit his mission, this time to get treatment for his eyes, blinded by too long a period of darkness. He also obtained in the United States a few months ago the four-passenger "Santa Maria" and the "plane was flown to the Arctic ahead of him."

The Usual Celebration

On his 82nd birthday, George Maurer, Dale, N.Y., went through with his annual headstand as scheduled, but his worried wife refused to witness it. Maurer, farmer and former blacksmith, has done this on each birthday for the last 20 years, and one year to increase bacon. He explained his wife had objected to the acrobatic trick "because he was too old a man."

A Government report shows that on American farms these days, two-thirds of the bread eaten is baked in commercial bakeries instead of the farmers' ovens.

So that all aircraft on main routes may be in constant vocal touch with the chief landing fields six short wave radio stations will be established in Australia.

Worry is as useless as it is to tell people not to worry.

The Great Canadian Bird Sanctuary

Miner Sanctuary At Kingsville Is World Famous

Everyone knows of the wonderful bird refuge at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada; and the humanitarian work conducted there by Mr. Jack Miner. "It is no exaggeration to say that the Miner sanctuary at Kingsville is world famous," says the Toronto Globe.

From all quarters of this continent and from lands beyond the sea, visitors each year make a pilgrimage to this shrine to view a work, the fame of which has travelled far and wide. Mr. Miner is to-day, one of the great naturalists of the world, and his lessons of kindness have been the means of instilling into countless young hearts, a deep and lasting love for birds and all the wild things of nature.

Jack Miner is a poor man, but his home and bird sanctuary are beautiful with hundreds upon hundreds of trees. It requires a fund of $200,000 annually to maintain the place, feed the birds, and supply labor connected with its upkeep.

Jack Miner's life has been incorporated what is known as "The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation," with the hope of raising a trust fund by gifts or bequests, of one million dollars, to perpetuate the place and make the famed spot an international park, where young and old can go and see the birds alive. As one writer has said, "A park for the people of America, surrounded by the Christian influence of God's living creatures."

Any person of wealth wishing to contribute by direct gift or bequest, can get full particulars and a 16-page, well-illustrated booklet, free of charge and postpaid, by writing The Jack Miner Migratory Bird Foundation Inc., at Kingsville, Ontario, Canada.

Irish Music

Adjudicator Says Ireland Has Much To Learn From Canada

Northern Ireland has much to learn from the young people of Canada according to D. T. Yacamini, lieutenant of the Royal Academy of Music and one of the judges at the Carrickfergus festival.

During his visit to Canada, he said, the instrumental work he heard would take one's breath away. On one occasion in Winnipeg, more than 400 competitors took part in the violin and piano classes.

Entries were small in the instrumental section at the festival and Yacamini confessed he was disappointed with the performances. Carrickfergus is a few miles north of Belfast.

Would Take Time

It would take three years to increase the output of beef in Great Britain, two years to increase mutton, and one year to increase bacon. These calculations were given to the British House of Commons by the minister of agriculture.

After all, there's quite a bit to be said in favor of an inferiority complex. For instance, when you meet it on the highway it doesn't cling to seven-tenths of the available pavement.

An optimist is one who would expect a heat wave any time now.

CASUALTIES AT THE CORONATION

So great was the crowd that witnessed the coronation in London that numerous casualties were recorded. This picture shows the busy ambulance men administering first aid to a woman spectator who fainted in the throng. This is a radio soundphoto.

Send twenty cents (20¢ in coin or stamps, coin preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly Size, Name, Address and Style Number, and send order to the Anne Adams Pattern Dept., Winnipeg Newspaper Union, 175 McDermott Ave. E., Winnipeg.

Honorable Artillery Company

King George A Member Of Ancient Society Of Boston

King George VI. has become an honorary member of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company, 300-year-old military society of Boston.

He was formally elected to membership after his willingness to accept had been read to the "ancients" assembled in historic Faneuil hall. Admission of King George gave the society, for the first time in its history, two members from Britain's ruling family. The Duke of Windsor was elected to membership while he was king and that membership remains in force.

Prince Albert, consort of Queen Victoria, was the first of the royal family to accept honorary membership in the society, and each succeeding generation has furnished other members.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

MAY 30

THE MAKING OF JACOB

Golden text: Be not fashioned according to this world; but be ye transformed by the renewing of your mind. Romans 12:2. Lesson: Genesis 28:1-33:20. Devotional reading: Psalm 32:1-5.

Explanations And Comments Jacob's Dream at Bethel, 28:10-15. Jacob was fleeing from Esau's wrath and was on his way to Haran. Quite by accident, as it would seem from the expression "He lighted upon a certain place," he came to a hillside near Bethel, and remained there all night.

For a pillow, he could find nothing better at hand than the stones about him, and one of them he put under his head as he lay down to sleep. Such a practice is common in Africa at the present time. When Bishop Taylor returned from Africa he had no use for soft pillows, and more than once substituted a headrest of books.

On Jacob's dream-ladder the angels of God were ascending and descending, symbolizing the thought that there is communication between God and man. Jacob alone knew that God is; now he learned that God is accessible. When he was lying at the foot of the ladder, he was made comfortable by the favoritism of Rebekah his mother, there was no room in his mind for a revelation from God. When alone on the rocky hillside, with no one to help him, God found him susceptible to divine influences.

Providence often thus prepares the way for revelation. And then in Jacob's dream Jehovah started before him and spoke words of encouragement and hope. Just as the story indicates where he was lying was woven into his dream, so were the words of his father Isaac in that parting blessing: "God Almighty bless thee, and multiply thee."

Abraham, verse 5. He heard God promise that he should inherit the land, that his descendants should be as the dust of the earth in number, and in him and in them "all the families of the earth should be blessed." And then God added the assurance of his companionship and guidance: "And behold, I am with thee, and will keep thee whithersoever thou goest."

Jacob Wrestles with an Angel, 32:22-30. Jacob had sent his family across the ford of the Jabbok and was alone. Memories of the past crowded upon him, and he was much alone in spirit. He found himself in the grasp of a mysterious combatant who wrestled with him all break of day, neither prevailing until toward morning Jacob's thigh was put out of joint. Weak though he then was, he persisted in the struggle, saying, "I will not let thee go except thou bless me," for he was sure that there was a blessing in "What is thy name?" "Jacob." "Thy name shall be called no more Jacob, but Israel, because thou hast striven with God, and with men, and has prevailed." And he blessed him there, by the name of the sacred place, Peniel, that is, The Face of God.

Thus pictorially is Jacob's agonized prayer described. Dr. Horace Bushnell calls the story a parable aimed, a case where the lesson is taught, not by words but by something done, and adds that so beautifully is the wrestling with the Jehovah angel depicted to the analogy of prayer that its teaching is most explicit and instructive. Jacob's name was changed because his character was changed. The double-dealing, crooked-working man was honest at last; the self-trusting man became God-trusting. From this time onward, although he did not know it, he was self-reliant; he became more and more "a prince with God, a just and God-fearing Israelite."

Talking For Eighteen Days Caused Death Of Florida Farmer

After talking for 18 days without ceasing, Howard Stillman, a farmer, died at Ocala, Florida.

His last words he died in the 418th hour of his uncontrollable flow of speech were mumblings about the Bible.

Mr. Stillman, aged 44, talked in a perfectly normal manner, except for the unceasing nature of his conversation, when he was first stricken by the strange disease. He answered questions rationally, and discussed topics of the day intelligently. At intervals he sang.

Then he began to eat very little, and to sleep only when under the influence of drugs. Day by day he grew weaker; his fever mounted; even in his sleep his lips moved constantly.

Doctors state that his case is only the second of its kind in medical history.

Television Will Grow No one knows just how many television sets are in operation in London now—about 2,000 is the usual estimate. The number will remain small while there are only two short programs in the day and while television sets remain so expensive. But there is no doubt that in ten years television will have made ordinary wireless as out of date as talkies have made silent films.

One high school in New York City has 10,000 male students.

Gardening

The more tender sorts of vegetables are beans, tomato plants, squash, cucumbers and melons. They will not start to grow until the weather and soil really become warm. All garden containers, whether using either wooden or steel stakes about six feet high. Trim off all side shoots as they develop, training the main stem up along the stake and tying loosely about every foot.

All these tender weather vegetables prefer rich, open soil and any members of the melon family; that is, squash, cucumber, citron, etc., take a special delight in hot, sandy soil, though it must be made rich with well-rotted manure or good garden fertilizer.

Dry weather will seldom affect a properly cultivated garden. Stirring of the top soil prevents evaporation of moisture and it also keeps down those robbers of plant food and water—water. Especially during the early part of the season is cultivation necessary and more particularly after each shower.

Even in the more northerly sections of Canada it will soon be time to plant those rather tender vegetables such as dahlias, gladioli and cannas. None of these, with the possible exception of gladioli, are frost-proof, but because all are bulbs or roots, and are planted several inches below the surface of the soil, they will not be so much affected by frost as other plants. The bulbs or roots should be planted from about four to six inches deep in the soil, twice this much for the larger dahlias and cannas. All prefer an open position, though with these as well as all flowers of vivid coloring, a position which is slightly shaded around noon is preferable to protect the blooms from being scorched by the hot sun. These flowers will benefit from a thorough soaking during the hot, dry weather.

Telephones In France

May Soon Rival United States In Their Use

France soon may rival the United States in the number of telephones and their use by the general public. To-day France has about a million and a half telephones installed in homes and offices, or one for every 35 inhabitants of the country.

Telephone operators in France soon will be overworked, to judge by the figures issued by the ministry. Last year France had 900,000 calls, or 1,737 calls per minute on an average.

In busy parts of the day this number naturally is much higher.

International calls to London, New York, Tokyo, Shanghai, Moscow, Berlin, Bucharest and other centers totaled 3,500,000 during the year. It is calculated that French callers can be put in touch with any one of 30,000,000 telephones in every corner of the world within ten minutes at the most.

Among the services which have been instituted in Paris by telephone officials are a service for medical aid, a time bureau which is operated by an automatic clock with a mechanical dial, and a service which, every ten seconds, an alarm clock service to awaken people and finally an automatic taxi call service.

Depends On The Dose

Whether New Fertilizer Makes Vegetables Grow Or Kill Them

The giant gooseberry and prize pumpkin will soon hide their heads in shame, if the new fertilizer just perfected by Dr. Joseph Seltet, chief medical officer of the Hungarian State Railways, does all that is claimed.

Noticing that certain dyes helped wounds to heal quickly, Dr. Seltet experimented upon plants. The results were astonishing, many species growing to five times their normal size and reaching maturity far more quickly than usual.

The name given to this giant-producing fertilizer is "Photosensin." It is put up in powder form and is very cheap to produce, so we may soon see it in general use by farmers and market gardeners. "Photosensin" might have come out of Alice-in-Wonderland, for while a normal dose makes a vegetable grow into a giant, an overdose reduces it to a midge!—Montreal Star.

Heavy Nickel Production

Production of nickel reached the record total of 18,153,641 pounds in March, it was announced by the Dominion bureau of statistics. Increased production probably was due to armament plants in Europe. For the first three months of the year, nickel production totaled 51,007,000 pounds, almost 6,000,000 pounds higher than the corresponding period last year and almost 23,000,000 pounds higher than in 1935.

Living was cheap in the old days. Junior's happiness was provided for with a stick of licorice instead of a tank full of gasoline.

In the preference of Americans, beef ranks first and pork second.

Trustees to Terminate Contract

Re-Engagement of Musical Supervisor Unlikely by Coleman School Board—Board Considers Teachers Qualified to Give Instruction.

A meeting of the school trustees was held on Tuesday evening with all members present.

The following teachers had been asked to attend: Principal Hoyle, J. Cousins, Mrs. Gifford, Miss Powell and Miss Brown. The chairman explained to the board that at a recent meeting of the Crows' Nest Pass Trustees Association, Coleman trustees had intimated they were not prepared to agree to the re-engagement of Mr. W. J. Moffatt as supervisor of music, owing to the expense, Coleman's share during the past year having been $751.00 of a total of $2,000. Coleman trustees felt that the teaching of music should be undertaken by those teachers qualified to do so, and eliminate this expense. He asked the teachers if they would co-operate.

Mr. Cousins, for the teachers, stated that the matter could not be discussed while Mr. Moffatt was still under contract with the board, and similar expression was made by other teachers. Mr. Cousins stated that professional etiquette was the reason they were unable to discuss the proposal made by the trustees, for they would be liable to disciplinary action by the Alberta Teachers' Alliance. The teachers after some general discussion, then withdrew.

Chairman Hope stated he had conversed with E. O. Duke, M.L.A., regarding the matter. If the Alberta Teachers' Alliance wish to take up the matter with the trustees, stated the chairman, they would be ready to discuss the whole matter.

Reverting to general business, on motion by Sharp-Greenhalgh, notice of the date of the Court of Revision on assessments was authorized to be published in The Coleman Journal.

A request from the dramatic society that they be allowed the use of the school auditorium was disallowed owing to a standing motion that it be used for educational purposes only. The letter stated that the meeting was for high school students only, with the request that they be permitted to hold a dance after the meeting.

For midsummer holidays schools will close on June 30 and re-open on September 1.

J. S. D'Appolonia's account for the balance of contract due, $8,160.00, was considered, and a motion made by Fraser and Sharpe that if $4,000 be acceptable till taxes began to come in, that the chairman and secretary issue a cheque for same.

The matter of the secretary was discussed, and as a meeting is to be held on Friday evening, it was decided to ask the town council to have two representatives attend to discuss arrangements, as heretofore the position of secretary of the school board and the council has been held by Mr. James Ford, and the business of both has been carried on in the town office.

Miss Bessie Dunlop, of the high school staff, spent the holiday visiting her sister, Miss Helen Dunlop, in Calgary.

Arranging Liberal Convention

Preparations Being Made For 2,000 Delegates to Attend Rousing Party Convention in Calgary.

Mr. Harry Ross, of Calgary, visited Alex. M. Morrison this week to discuss appointment of delegates from this district to the Liberal convention to be held in Calgary June 4-5. Banff, which is in Rocky Mountain constituency, will send five delegates, and this part of the district is entitled to send the same number. As there is keen interest in the forthcoming convention, owing to the disturbed conditions prevailing over the split in the Aberhart government, it is likely that the Pass towns will be represented.

The name of E. L. Gray, at present manager of the Eastern Irrigation District, is being freely talked of as the leader of the provincial Liberal party.

Alex. Morrison has been a good war horse for this constituency, and though he has been handicapped in health for some months, it is hoped that his old enthusiasm will urge him to lead the delegation on to Calgary.

Delegates appointed at a meeting held in A. M. Morrison's office Thursday evening to the Provincial Liberal convention were J. S. D'Appolonia, M. Kilsh, Coleman; C. J. Tompkins, L. L. Morgan, Blairmore; Mrs. Altken, Hillcrest.
